Avoiding Deceptive Practices	Consumer Protection	5	HS	15 M/C	15 mins
------------------------------	---------------------	---	----	--------	---------

Textbook: Avoiding Deceptive Practices; 2018 Kaplan Inc., 53 pages - Regulators have expressed serious concerns over recent advances in marketing and advertising technology and methodology. Their impression is that consumers are being deceived when disclosure is incomplete or inappropriate when marketing and advertising content appears to be communicating information as opposed to selling. One term that has been used to describe this type of marketing is "native advertising". Native advertising has been defined as marketing or advertising that is a type of disguised advertising, often online, that mimics unpaid informational or editorial content. This course is designed to provide real estate licensees with the knowledge and information they need to protect consumers and to fulfill the requirements of federal law and regulations by avoiding business practices that can result in consumer confusion and deception.
